

The Real Dangers of Cancer.

This was a very rough time for her family, and her husband decided to not show as much emotion due to the possibility of him worrying her. Source – Cancercentre.com

Linda Bradshaw - This is a teacher, and her mother and her auntie all died of cancer when she was a young age. This massively affected her, and it has made her grow into an independent individual. She finds it really hard to talk about and she tends to keep quiet about it, but we interviewed her to hear her story and if you want to see this, it is on the BBC News website.
